Professional Profile

A designer, content developer, creative writer, and online trend seeker. Keeps up-to-date with popular culture, global fashion and design trends, music, and technology, both online and offline. Uses the Internet, education, research, and personal instinct to see a concept through to creation. Views new projects as a challenge rather than a problem.

Education

Bunka Gakuen University 2015-2017
文化学園大学
Tokyo, Japan
Master of Arts
With a Major in Science of Clothing

Part of Bunka's Graduate School of Fashion and Living Environment Studies, the Global Fashion Concentration uniquely bridges theory and practice within a global context, focusing on fashion related art and design.

Titled Bridging Image Sharing from Edo to Tokyo: A Comparative Study of Ukiyo-e and Instagram, my thesis research examines the similarities between Edo period ukiyo-e prints and the use of Instagram, in contemporary Tokyo, as a method of branding, marketing, trend-setting, and their influence in creating celebrity status.

The accompanying collection uses Edo period menswear as inspiration for garments made of hi-tech fabrics.

I combined contemporary finishing techniques with traditional Japanese pattern making methods.

The process of concept to creation is detailed in my portfolio.
